It is such a difficult thing to accept each other by coming over good and evil, or like and dislike. I myself feel that way even to my family members, sometimes. Moreover, to others, yes, it gets more than that.

The important things to human should be at your everyday life, not exist as the special things. Freedom, equality, compassion, affection, attention, tolerance, devotion, sympathy, empathy... Yet, truth cannot leave itself to words. If you are stuck with looking for the immediate benefit, you lose to see the essence of things.

The process as I, myself, is based on grace or sacrifice of predecessor. People have survived under various absurd situations, and they keep living on. After being aged, I have started accepting the predecessors' ideas without any obstacle. Will we be affirmed timelessly? Will I be able to leave something, and pass them to my son?

I meet the "Things not Talk" day by day. They also are "myself", which walk forward together as trying to understand each other.

It would be such a pleasure if you can visit the space to spend your various time by having dialogues with deep greens of the Aokigahara Jukai Forest at the foot of Mt. Fuji.
